To Whom It May Concern

Dear Sir/Madam,

Re: Providing information to students completing research projects

The Project Management and Engineering Practice (GENG5505) course in the School of Engineering requires students to write and analyse a case study on a “real-world” project. This student and his/her group have chosen a project undertaken by your company. One of their tasks is to collect relevant and reliable information and write a case study, which they have to analyse throughout the semester. They are then required to write a report and give a presentation on their project.

As the lecturer and coordinator of this course I would very much appreciate if you agreed to communicate with this group of students and provide them with relevant information to assist them in completing their project. If you are able to help, the students would then be very happy to give you a copy of their report, including the findings of their analysis.

This is an excellent opportunity for these students to obtain some real industry experience and training. I hope you are able to assist them and I am at your disposal to discuss any further questions that you might have.

Thank you

Sincerely,

Assoc/Prof Cosimo Faiello
